

German expert with book about HCM City

11:15 ngày 04 tháng 10 năm 2016

Michael Waibel, leader of some leading urban development projects at the geography faculty at Hamburg University and an expert with 20 years studying urban areas in Vietnam, will launch a book titled “HCM City - Mega City in early October in Vietnam.

Michael Waibel, German expert

The book highlights HCM City as the most dynamic economic center of the country and one of the mega cities in Asia.

Waibel wants to give readers an insight into HCMC as a promised land for migrants and those who have a strong desire to change their lives.

In the book published by Hong Duc Publishing House, readers can find more than 450 pictures of contemporary Saigon and introductions and narratives in both English and Vietnam.

Michael Waibel and Do Phu Hung, head of the faculty of urban zoning of the HCM City University of Architecture, will share their views on different issues to develop a sustainable city in Vietnam and stories on garbage and flooding in HCM City at an exchange on October 9 at 10 a.m. at Salon Ca phe thu 7, 19B Pham Ngoc Thach Street, District 3, HCM City.
